writing history 7 11 supports students and primary teachers helping them to explore ways in which activities involving the talk that underpins historical enquiry can be developed into reading and exciting extended reflective writing the step that teachers and pupils take from talk for learning to talk for writing is a vital one in this book the authors argue that all aspects of historical enquiry leading to writing involve discussion and dialogue which permeate every aspect of doing history from this perspective they set out a theoretical framework for understanding the role of talk and reading in developing pupils critical thinking and confident reflective writing then demonstrate through a series of case studies in which teachers university lecturers and pupils work together how the theory is put into practice in the classroom themes include how to support children in writing in a variety of interesting genres how to make links between the national curriculum 2013 for history and for english how to plan for breadth and depth studies in the new national curriculum how activities in history 5 11 can be developed into exciting extended writing the second half of the book draws upon case studies from a number of real primary classrooms with children of different ages each case study shows how teaching was planned to develop children s confidence and enjoyment in discussion and to scaffold reasoned written explanation and argument topics presented are all relevant to the new curriculum framework and include talking and reading about time change and significance over 6000 years writing a television script celtic britain and the roman army writing a travel brochure about celtic britain the destruction of roman towns writing a saxon poem an archaeological investigation of a body in a danish peat bog writing a newspaper report did any countries benefit from ww11 writing an argued viewpoint the expansion westwards of european settlers writing a flap book exploring different perspectives this indispensable book provides not only sources for pupils to use in their writing but also models and exemplars of different styles and voices to draw upon provocative audacious and challenging this book rejuvenates not only the historical study of law but also the role of law schools by asking which stories we tell and which stories we forget it argues that a historical approach to law should be at the beating heart of the law school curriculum far from being archaic elitist and dull historical perspectives on law are and should be subversive comparison with the past underscores how the law and legal institutions are not fixed but are constructed that every line drawn in the law and everything the law holds as sacred is actually arbitrary and how the environment into which law students are socialised is a historical construct a subversive approach is needed to highlight question de construct and re construct the authored nature of the law revealing that legal change on a larger scale is possible far from being archaic this recasts legal history as being anarchic subversive legal history is not a type of legal history but is its defining characteristic if it is to be a central part of law school life it describes a legal method that should not be the preserve only of specialist legal historians but rather should be part of the toolkit of all law students teachers and researchers this book will be essential reading for all who work and study in law schools proposing a radical new approach not only to the historical study of law but also to the content purpose and ambition of legal education a subversive approach can revolutionise law schools providing a more ambitious legal education which is grounded in the socio legal reality helping to ensure that today s law students are better equipped to be the professionals and citizens of tomorrow
